What's going on?

From September 23 – December 2, there will be no train service on weekends while we install equipment needed for Positive Train Control (PTC), a federally-mandated, safety control system that automatically reduces train speeds when needed and helps to avoid collisions.

Why do you have to shut down the entire line?

There will be crews working all along the line, installing poles, fiber optic cable, signal houses and antenna. Due to the number of crews working on the line performing different activities in different locations, the entire line needs to be shut down.

Why are you doing this now?

Our timeframe is tight because of a federal deadline. Every Commuter Rail line needs Positive Train Control equipment installed, and we need to take advantage of the summer and fall weather.
